4 (b) and (d).

11. (C) Embassy Tokyo Political Officer delivered reftel demarche July 7 to MOFA Global Issues Cooperation Division Principal Deputy Director Masatoshi Sugiura. Sugiura said that Japan is still in the "information gathering stage" of making a decision on the Human Rights Foundation's (HRF) application for consultative status with the UN Economic and Social Council (ECOSOC), and would make a decision next week.

12. (C) Cuba also delivered a demarche about the HRF to MOFA, Sugiura noted. The Cuban demarche contained no mention of HRF Board of Directors Chairman Armando Valladares, citing instead the Human Rights Foundation's support for Cuban-born Bolivian dissident, Amauris Samartino, as cause for rejecting the NGO's application. According to Sugiura's description of the demarche, Samartino fomented rebellion in Bolivia's Santa Cruz region, and HRF's support for him constituted unacceptable interference with a foreign government.
